IML CLICK & IML VIEWPOINT EXPRESS

Communicate complex ideas with the click of a button.

1. Create

Create interactive questions directly in PowerPoint

2. Interact

Your audience interacts instantly using their own wireless IML Clicks

3. Communicate

Discuss results live or analyze detailed data at a later date

Ask a question - any question

IML ViewPoint Express enables your audience to quickly vote on multiple choice and numeric range questions using the IML Click keypads. Results are instantly created with a variety of display and charting options. The entire system works with what you already know - PowerPoint and Excel. IML ViewPoint Express questions can be formatted with the click of a button using any of the PowerPoint tools you're already familiar with. When your presentation is done, simply click the 'Create Reports' button and Excel automatically opens up with all of the valuable data you just collected. It's really that easy!

So much to learn and do - so little time

With the click of a button, turn a standard PowerPoint slide into an interactive question. Gain real measurements of knowledge transfer and retention in minutes - not months. Receive instant feedback and updates from every member of your team. Your presentation made interactive, in seconds. IML ViewPoint Express allows you to track each individual's response or let them anonymously tell you how incredibly great (or absolutely horrible) your idea might be.

One easy to use system - many possibilities

The stylish and robust IML Click is ready to go at a moment's notice. Simply plug the wireless receiver into your USB port and your Clicks are ready to go. When your meeting is done, grab the Clicks, click them together and put them in the case provided. In a hurry? Stack them and toss them in your bag. Don't worry - they're tough and up to the task. Clicks are easy to transport, comfortable to hold and can be worn using a lanyard. Weighing under 30 grams, this lightweight powerhouse really does stack up.

Smart design from smart people

IML has been creating award-winning interactive devices and software for meetings and events all over the world for over 20 years. We know meetings and events - we help deliver them globally every day for just about every major company and organization. We have taken our collective knowledge and experience and packaged it into one very easy to use and cost-effective system.
